

Q&A discussions, flagging confusing content and bookmarking in Media Hopper Replay

Media Hopper Replay allows you to ask and respond to questions for each of the classes within your course, or for the course as a whole.

As well as asking questions, you can also mark content you find confusing within presentations or videos, and bookmark content to return to later.

Q&A discussions

You can post your own questions or reply to those posted by others within a specific class or your entire course.

Q&A within a class

If you are viewing a presentation or lecture recording and wish to ask a question about it, you can do so by posting a question directly within the class you are viewing. It can then be viewed and answered by your lecturer or peers within the Discussion area for this class.

To post a question or reply to a question asked by someone else in a specific class:

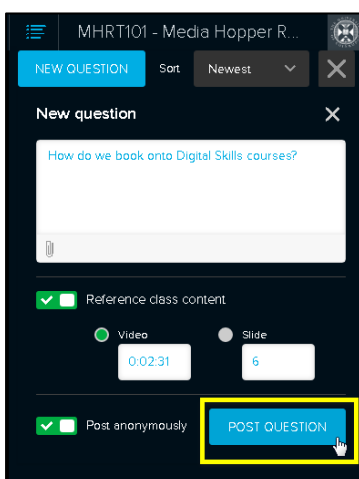

1. Open the class you wish to post a question to from the course list.

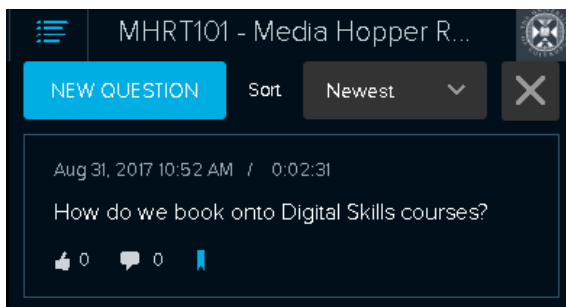

2. To post a question within this class, click on the New Question button.

3. Enter your question under the New question area. You can click on the Reference class content option and link your question to a point in the video or slide. Finally, choose whether to post your question anonymously or not. Your question will be anonymous to your peers but not your lecturer.

Your question will now appear within the panel for your peers or lecturer to reply to.

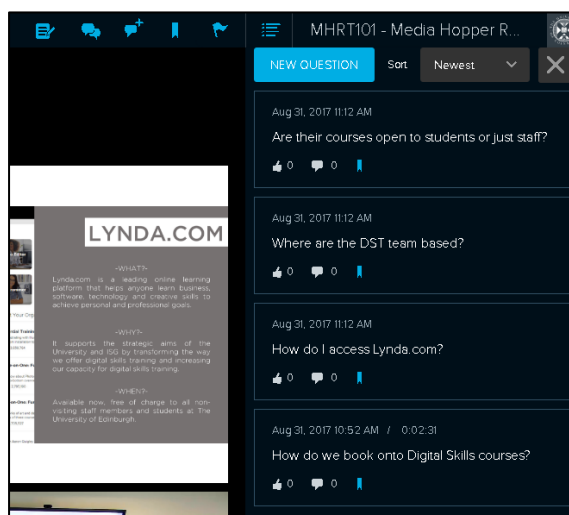

4. To edit or remove your question, hover over it and click on the down-pointing arrow when it appears. Use the Edit or Delete options to make changes.

5. If you don't have a question to ask but wish to see what others are asking, click on the Discussion button.

6. The Discussion area will open displaying all of the questions and replies posted for this class.

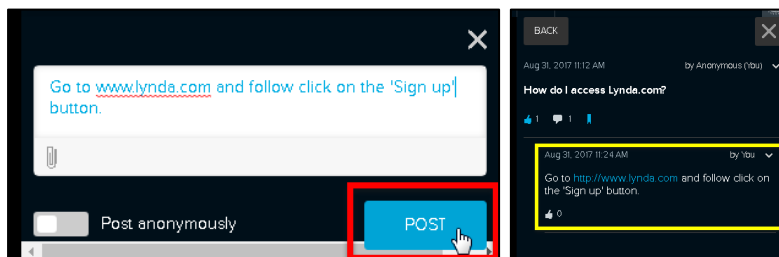

7. To endorse a question or reply, click on its Like button. It will turn blue once you've clicked on it.

- To post a reply to a question, click on the question to open it and click on the Respond to this question button at the bottom.

- Type your response into the box, choose whether or not to post anonymously and click Post. Your response will now appear below the question. Click on the Back button to go back to the main Discussion area.

Q&A for your entire course

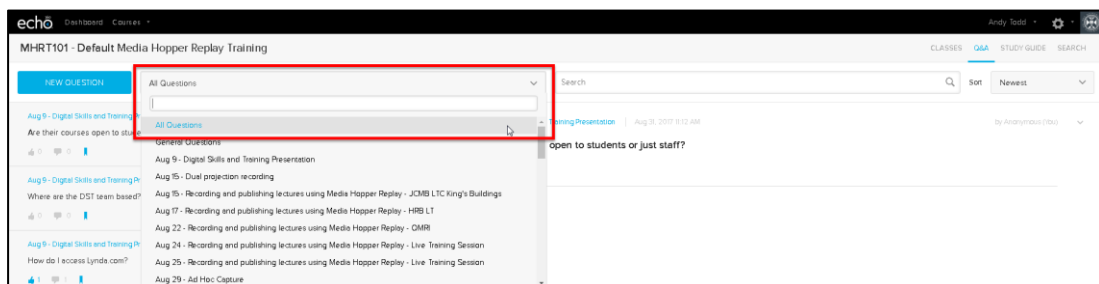

As well as entering into discussions within a specific class, you can also view any questions and answers posted for the entire course.

To view and respond to questions for your entire course:

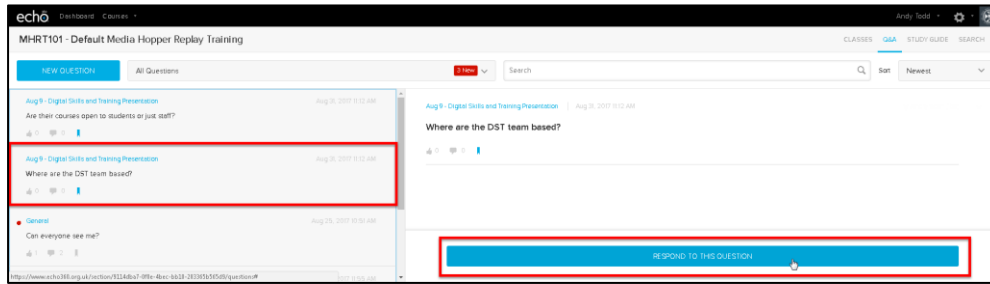

- From the main course view, click on the Q&A button.

- When the Q&A menu opens, click on the Classes dropdown menu to select the class you wish to view questions for. Select All Questions to view questions asked across all of the classes within your course.

- To respond to a question, select it from the list on the left and click on the Respond to this question button.

- Type your response in the box, choose whether or not to post anonymously and click on the Post button.

Your response will now appear below the question.

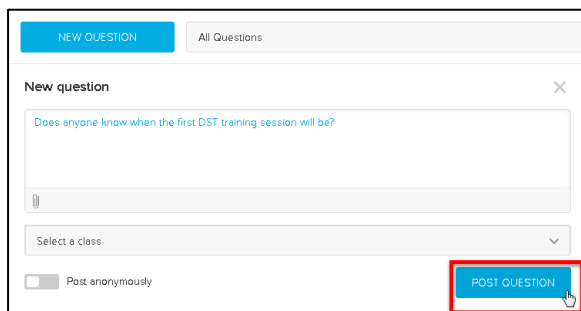

To post a new question within your course:

- Within the Q&A menu, click on the New Question button.

- Type your question in the New question box. To post your question to a specific class, select it from the Select a class drop-down list. Leave it as it is if your question isn't specific to class
- Choose whether or not to post anonymously and click Post Question.

Your question will now appear within the All Questions list, or the class you posted it in.

Flagging content

When viewing presentations or lecture recordings you can mark any content you find difficult to understand as confusing. Your lecturer can see a list of any content you or your peers have marked as confusing.

To mark content as confusing:

1. When viewing the class (video, lecture recording and/or presentation), click on the Mark as confused button when you view something you don't understand. A green notification will appear at the bottom of the player to notify you that it has been marked as confusing.

2. If you are viewing a class containing a video or lecture recording which contains a presentation file, you can select to flag the current point in the video or the slide you are viewing. You can mark both confusing but must first select one then the other.

3. Once content has been marked as confusing, the flag will turn white. You can click on it again to remove the confused flag.

Bookmarking content

Bookmarking allows you to mark content you wish to return to later to or to take/edit notes for.

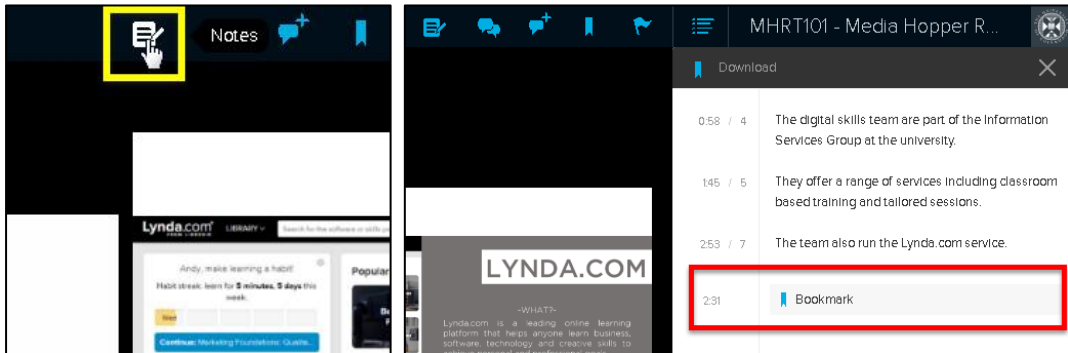

To bookmark content within a class:

1. With your class open, click on the Bookmark button at the point in the video, lecture recording or presentation you wish to bookmark. If you are viewing a video and presentation together, you can choose to either bookmark the point in the video, slide or both.

A green notification will let confirm that the content has been bookmarked successfully.

2. To view any bookmarks for the class you are viewing, click on the Notes button to open your notepad. The bookmarked content should appear within there.

3. To remove a bookmark, hover over it in the notepad and click on the X when it appears or click on the Bookmark button again at the point where the bookmark was added.
